Q1A*A. is

Choice A is the best answer. The convention being tested is the use of verb forms within a sentence. A main clause requires a finite (tensed) verb to perform the action of the subject (in this case, "yellow"), and this choice supplies the present tense verb "is considered" to indicate that yellow is considered a complementary color to blue in modern color theory.

Choice B is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite participle "having been considered" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb. Choice C is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite to-infinitive "to be considered" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb. Choice D is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite participle "being considered" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb.

Q2D*D. These

Choice D is the best answer. The convention being tested is the use of determiners in a sentence. The plural determiner "these" agrees in number with the plural noun "letters" that it modifies. This choice clearly indicates that the letters demonstrate Alcott's business sense.

Choice A is incorrect because the singular determiner "one" doesn't agree in number with the plural noun "letters." Choice B is incorrect because the singular determiner "that" doesn't agree in number with the plural noun "letters." Choice C is incorrect because the singular determiner "this" doesn't agree in number with the plural noun "letters."

Q3

D. were

Choice D is the best answer. The convention being tested is subject-verb agreement. The plural verb "were" agrees in number with the plural subject "ayllus," which are described as plural "family clans."

Choice A is incorrect because the singular verb "is" doesn't agree in number with the plural subject "ayllus." Choice B is incorrect because the singular verb "was" doesn't agree in number with the plural subject "ayllus." Choice C is incorrect because the singular verb "has been" doesn't agree in number with the plural subject "ayllus."

D. includes

Choice D is the best answer. This verb needs to function as the main verb in the sentence, with the subject "one species," so it needs to be conjugated. This choice gives us the singular present tense "includes," which is the only conjugated form of the verb among the choices.

Choice A is incorrect. This doesn't complete the text in a way that conforms to the conventions of Standard English. This verb needs to function as the main verb in the sentence, with the subject "one species," so it needs to be conjugated. "Having included" is a participle form of the verb: it's not conjugated and doesn't function like a normal verb. Choice B is incorrect. This doesn't complete the text in a way that conforms to the conventions of Standard English. This verb needs to function as the main verb in the sentence, with the subject "one species," so it needs to be conjugated. "Including" is the gerund form of the verb: it's not conjugated and doesn't function like a normal verb. Choice C is incorrect. This doesn't complete the text in a way that conforms to the conventions of Standard English. This verb needs to function as the main verb in the sentence, with the subject "one species," so it needs to be conjugated. "To include" is the infinitive form of the verb: it's not conjugated.

C

C. finished

Choice C is the best answer. The convention being tested is the use of a verb to express tense in a sentence. In this choice, the past tense verb “finished” is consistent with the other past tense verb (“retired”) used to refer to Girgrah’s retirement in 2004.

Choice A is incorrect because the present tense verb “finish” isn’t consistent with the other past tense verb (“retired”) used to refer to Girgrah’s retirement in 2004. Furthermore, the plural verb “finish” doesn’t agree in number with the sentence’s singular subject “The Yemeni American athlete.” Choice B is incorrect because the present perfect progressive tense verb “has been finishing” isn’t consistent with the other past tense verb (“retired”) used to refer to Girgrah’s retirement in 2004. Choice D is incorrect because the future progressive tense verb “will be finishing” isn’t consistent with the other past tense verb (“retired”) used to refer to Girgrah’s retirement in 2004.

D. He

Choice D is the best answer. The convention being tested is pronoun-antecedent agreement. The singular pronoun “he” agrees in number with the singular antecedent “Félix González-Torres,” and it clearly indicates that González-Torres created the additional installations.

Choice A is incorrect because the plural noun phrase “they all” doesn’t agree in number with the singular antecedent “Félix González-Torres,” and it doesn’t clearly indicate that he (González-Torres) created the additional installations. Choice B is incorrect because the plural pronoun “those” doesn’t agree in number with the singular antecedent “Félix González-Torres,” and it doesn’t clearly indicate that he (González-Torres) created the additional installations. Choice C is incorrect because the plural pronoun “both” doesn’t agree in number with the singular antecedent “Félix González-Torres,” and it doesn’t clearly indicate that he (González-Torres) created the additional installations.

Q7A*A. serve

Choice A is the best answer. The convention being tested is the use of verb forms within a sentence. A main clause requires a finite (tensed) verb to perform the action of the subject (in this case, "multiple newspapers"), and this choice supplies the finite present tense verb "serve" to indicate that there are multiple newspapers serving the Spanish-speaking population of Washington, DC.

Choice B is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite participle "having served" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb. Choice C is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite to-infinitive "to serve" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb. Choice D is incorrect because it results in an ungrammatical sentence. The nonfinite participle "serving" doesn't supply the main clause with a finite verb.

Q8D*D. fly

Choice D is the best answer. The convention being tested is the use of verbs to express tense. In this choice, the present tense verb "fly" is consistent with the other present tense verb ("journey") used to describe the butterflies' yearly migration. Together, these simple present tense verbs correctly indicate that the migration is a current, yearly occurrence.

Choice A is incorrect. The simple past tense verb "flew" isn't consistent with the other present tense verb used to describe the butterflies' yearly migration. Choice B is incorrect. The past progressive tense verb "were flying" isn't consistent with the other present tense verb used to describe the butterflies' yearly migration. Choice C is incorrect. The past perfect tense verb "had flown" isn't consistent with the other present tense verb used to describe the butterflies' yearly migration.

Q9C*C. promotes

Choice C is the best answer. The subject of the sentence is “The African Games Co-production Market.” That’s one market, so it’s a singular noun, which means it needs a singular verb. “Promotes” is the only singular verb among the choices.

Choice A is incorrect. This choice creates a subject-verb agreement error. The subject “The African Games Co-production Market” is singular, but the verb “promote” is plural. Choice B is incorrect. This choice creates a subject-verb agreement error. The subject “The African Games Co-production Market” is singular, but the verb “are promoting” is plural. Choice D is incorrect. This choice creates a subject-verb agreement error. The subject “The African Games Co-production Market” is singular, but the verb “have promoted” is plural.

Q10A*A. them

Choice A is the best answer. The pronoun “them” agrees with the plural antecedents “poems” and “works.”

Choice B is incorrect. “This” is a singular pronoun, but its antecedents, “poems” and “works,” are plural. Choice C is incorrect. “That” is a singular pronoun, but its antecedents, “poems” and “works,” are plural. Choice D is incorrect. “It” is a singular pronoun, but its antecedents, “poems” and “works,” are plural.
